

New claim:

1. A blood-collecting device for newborn babies and infants, comprising a cannula having a blood inlet and outlet and provided in a holder with a grip part, characterized by a bow-shaped bridge element (6) connecting the grip part (7) with the cannula holder (2) and forming a free space for the outlet between the cannula holder (2) and the grip part (7).